

MAX TREFLER joins the Sonor Family of Artists

Sonor Drums Canada welcomes MAX TREFLER of WHOSARMY to the Canadian Artist roster.

WHOSARMY

WINS "COVER ME CANADA" 2011

Whosarmy formed in Toronto in September 2006 when high school friends Travis Wood (Vocals) and Cory Williams (Guitars) teamed up with Max Trefler (Drums) and Greg Markham (Bass), who have also played together since high school. It quickly became apparent that there was a great chemistry between the four members, who adopted Whosarmy as a full-time venture after leaving their post-secondary studies.

Whosarmy has spent much time honing their craft together, working with the likes of Lior Goldenberg (Audioslave, Alanis Morissette, Ringo Starr) Arnold Lanni (Our Lady Peace, Simple Plan, Finger Eleven) and L. Stu Young (Prince, Guns and Roses) along the way. After four and a half years, they have arrived at a place as a band where they feel ready to make a big impact, citing Coldplay and U2 as major influences. After many demos and working on over 100 songs, Whosarmy released their first self-titled record May 6th, 2011. The 8 song EP is armed with catchy melodies, interesting arrangements, and polished production.

Whosarmy has an energetic and captivating live show that has won over many audiences. They have played numerous music festivals including: Canadian Music Week, North by Northeast, South by Southwest and have spent some time in LA showcasing for industry. They have also shared the stage with fellow Canadian bands Mother Mother, Wintersleep, The Waking Eyes, and Mariana's Trench.

Check out the new single: "Alive", written by Whosarmy and Chantal Kreviazuk, and produced by Ron Fair. It's now available for purchase on iTunes.
